

Letter from the Executive Director
THE JOURNEY TO MAGHKLANDIA

We've spent the last few months, not only planning to find a show that reflected our mission, values, goals, and dreams. We wanted to take an artistic journey and would focus on great books and great teachers, constantly practicing our commitment to the arts and quality of life. We wanted to find a show that would bring these together and stay with them forever. We decided to find a show that would bring the arts, the journey, and the mission together.

We didn't know where to begin when we first received our first request. We weren't sure if we had the right show, but we knew we had to go. We knew we had to go to the heart of the matter and explore the journey that led us here. We knew we had to go to the heart of the matter and explore the journey that led us here. We knew we had to go to the heart of the matter and explore the journey that led us here.
